About the LHSA

The International Leica Society is a group of amateur and professional photographers who foster a fascination for the Leica brand. Membership in The International Leica Society is open to all and is multinational in scope, with an opportunity for members to interact with other Leica aficionados from every continent.

The Society is committed to providing members with an exciting and rewarding experience of the artistic and technical aspects of photography, to get the most out of Leica products, and to develop lasting relationships with fellow enthusiasts.

Membership Benefits

Viewfinder

The quarterly journal of the Society, the Viewfinder is a high-quality publication featuring articles and photographs submitted by members and prominent Leica experts. The journal has items of interest for the contemporary generation of digital and film photographers, as well as articles that appeal to collectors and historians.

Focal Point

The Annual and Spring shoot meetings

Held each autumn and spring in various locations, the Society's meetings are always a focal point for members to exchange ideas and renew friendships.

- Meeting locations are chosen to attract members, their spouses, and friends and to maximize photo excursions, seminars, and stimulating presentations.
- Presentations include noted pro-photographer workshops to hone your knowledge and skills and keynote speakers offering a wide spectrum of interesting topics.
- The annual meeting also includes a Trade Fair as part of the agenda as well as the opportunity to show and share photos.

- Student members who reside close to the meeting cities are welcome to register and participate.
- Member lists are provided for each meeting and spring shoot to help facilitate member interaction.

LHSA Raffle

Every year the Society conducts a raffle with three of the latest Leica products. An extremely popular event, the raffle ticket sales help maintain the Society's budget along with membership dues.

The International Leica Society website (lhsa.org)

The LHSA website remains the Society's primary electronic home and features current information about the Society, meeting dates, member information, camera repair locations, member equipment sales and useful photo links.

There you can find current Viewfinder issue and archived publications, as well as complimentary access to some of the sites services with an open invitation to join. Also we offer an historical archive of Leica literature and a member photo gallery.

Discounts on Products & Services

Society members receive a 15% discount on repair services through Leica Camera's facility in New Jersey. Other special discounts on product and service are offered periodically to members, sometimes directly through Society member-dealers.

Regional Meet-Ups

Organized by members in metropolitan areas, the regional meet-ups are gaining in popularity.
